

2023
B.A./B.Sc.
Third Semester
CORE – 6
ANTHROPOLOGY
Course Code: ANC 3.21
(Research Methods)

Total Mark: 70
Time: 3 hours

Pass Mark: 28

Answer five questions, taking one from each unit.

UNIT-I

1. What is a research problem? Discuss on the steps involved in the formulation of a research problem. 2+12=14
2. What are concepts? Discuss on the importance of conceptual framework in research. 2+12=14

UNIT-II

3. Discuss on the nature and significance of ethnographic method in anthropological research. 14
4. Highlight the value of maintaining field diary and logbook in anthropological field work. 14

UNIT-III

5. What is survey? Discuss on the importance of survey method and its relationship with ethnography. 2+6+6=14
6. What is case study? Using suitable examples elaborate on the importance of case studies in social research. 2+12=14

UNIT-IV

7. Discuss on the nature and roles of chapterization and bibliography in report writing. 7+7=14
8. What is quantitative data? How does quantitative data contribute towards anthropological research? 2+12=14

UNIT-V

9. What are variables? Discuss some main variables a researcher may encounter in the course of her/his research work. 2+12=14
 10. What is a correlation? Using suitable data and statistical representations discuss on the different types of correlation. 2+12=14
-