

2023
M.Sc.
Third Semester
DISCIPLINE SPECIFIC ELECTIVE – 01
ANTHROPOLOGY
Course Code: MAND 3.31 (A)
(Development Anthropology)

Total Mark: 70
Time: 3 hours

Pass Mark: 28

Answer five questions, taking one from each unit.

UNIT-I

1. What is development anthropology? Provide an anthropological critique to the Eurocentric model of development based on economic growth. 4+10=14
2. Contrast the divergent perspectives of top-down and bottom-up development and its socio-economic implications. 14

UNIT-II

3. Discuss the impact of development projects and policies on tribal communities in India. 14
4. Outline the ways in which anthropologists can intervene in the planning and development of deprived communities in India. 14

UNIT-III

5. An important goal of sustainable development is to ensure environmental protection as well as achieve economic development. What role can anthropologists play in reconciling these goals to achieve sustainable development? 14
6. What is human development? Discuss the problems of human development in third world countries and measures to address the problem. 4+10=14

UNIT-IV

7. Examine the causes of ethnic assertion and insurgency in North-East India. What are its impediments towards social and economic development? 7+7=14
8. Delineate the shift in focus from Look East Policy to Act East Policy. Discuss its political and sociological implications on the communities of North-East India. 6+8=14

UNIT-V

9. Write notes on the following: 7×2=14
(a) Regionalism
(b) Participatory approach to development
10. Write notes on the following: 7×2=14
(a) Human development index
(b) Aim and scope of tribal sub-plans
-